Q2:- Read the two texts carefully, and then answer all the questions that follow. Your answers should be based on the texts.

A few years ago, as many as 1,000 schools across the USA started making school years longer by adding up to ten extra days to the school year or by making each school day longer by half an hour. This was because it was found that secondary school students in the USA and the UK were spending the least time at school, with an average school year of 187 days. The typical Jordanian school year is longer than this.

According to a study by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), students in Japan, Indonesia and South Korea spend the most time studying in the world. They want to learn as much as they can to ensure excellent exam grades. They go to school for about nine hours, although this includes optional after-school tuition and activities. They also spend about three hours on homework every day, which is three times as much as many other countries.

In Finland, however, students are usually given less than half an hour of homework per night, and they attend school for fewer and shorter days than 85% of other developed nations. Despite this, they achieve top marks in subjects like Maths and Science. In addition, most students also speak at least two, and often three, languages fluently.

SEE PAGE FIVE...

PAGE FIVE

1. The study shows that students from certain countries spend the most time studying in the world. Write down two of these countries.
2. What is interesting about Finland's fewer and shorter school days?
3. Many schools across the USA started making school years longer in two ways. Mention these ways.
4. Quote the sentence which shows that Jordanian school year is longer than the years in the UK and USA.
5. Find a word in the text that means ((speaking a language very well.))
6. What does the underlined word ((this)) refer to?
7. The number and the length of school days aren't the only factors in determining student's achievement at school. Suggest three possible factors that can improve students' achievement.

THE END...
